

I vigorously oppose any changes to Wisconsin's no call law that would allow more unwanted calls to my home. Specifically, I object to permitting a company to call me for up to 18 months after I decide that I don't want to do business with them. I see no reason why the federal government should be telling Wisconsin consumers that Wisconsin's law need not be followed.